A Brief History of the Seminary

The Beginnings (1682-1690)

The Carmelite Missionaries, who were sent to Malabar by Pope Alexander VII in the year 1657, started a small Seminary at Verapoly in 1682. The Seminary worked satisfactorily for some time, but it had to be closed down owing to some adverse circumstances.

The Re-organized Seminary (1764-1886)

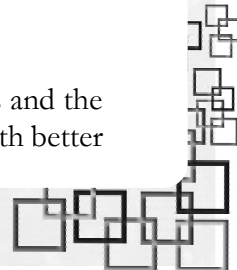

On 14th September 1764, the Congregation of Propaganda Fide wrote to the Vicar Apostolic of Verapoly asking him to reopen the Seminary for the formation of both the Latin and the Syrian Clergy. As the small seminary buildings at Verapoly could not accommodate all the seminarians, those of the Syrian Rite were lodged for some years at Alangad, under the supervision of the Carmelite Fathers. By the year 1774, however, both Syrians and Latins were housed in the Verapoly Seminary.

The Central Seminary at Puthenpally (1866-1932)

The Seminary at Verapoly was shifted to the new buildings at Puthenpally in the year 1866. In 1888 the Seminary of Puthenpally was constituted the Central Major Seminary for the whole of Malabar, and was placed under the immediate jurisdiction of the Sacred Congregation of Propaganda Fide. Important changes were made in the curriculum of studies as demanded by the exigencies of time and circumstances. It was during this time that the study of languages such as Sanskrit, Greek, Hebrew and Malayalam was introduced in the curriculum.

The Central Apostolic Seminary at Mangalapuzha(1932)

Owing to the increase in the number of students and the unhealthy location of Puthenpally, a new seminary with better accommodation was built at Mangalapuzha, Aluva. On 1st June 1932, the Theological Section was transferred from Puthenpally to the new Seminary which was still under construction. In December of the same year, when more accommodation was made available in the new Seminary, the Philosophy Section too was transferred to Mangalapuzha. The official inauguration of the new Seminary was done on 28th January 1933 by the Most Rev. Leo P. Kierkels, C.P., the then Apostolic Delegate to India. The Seminarians at that time numbered 274. On 2nd January 1951, the inauguration and the blessing of the chapel of the Seminary by Most Rev. Leo P. Kierkels took place.

The increase in the clerical vocations necessitated further extension. The strength of the Seminary in 1954 was 486 even though the maximum capacity of the seminary with all the extensions made was only for 450 students. The problem was soon solved when on 24th November 1955 the new Philosophical Seminary, named “St Joseph’s Apostolic Seminary, Carmelgiri”, was solemnly blessed and inaugurated by His Excellency the Most Rev. Martin Lucas, the then Apostolic Internuncio to India.

St Joseph Pontifical Seminary

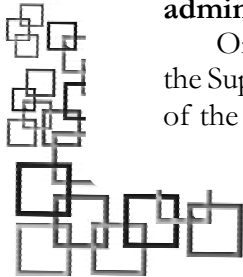

In 1964 the Seminary was raised to the ‘Pontifical’ status by the Holy See. His Excellency the Most Rev. James Robert Knox, the Apostolic Internuncio, read the Papal Brief at a public meeting in the Seminary on June 14, 1964.

Pontifical Institute of Theology and Philosophy

On February 24, 1972, the Congregation for Catholic Education issued a decree erecting a Theological Faculty in the Pontifical Seminary Always.

K.C.B.C. entrusted with the direction and administration

On October 27, 1973, a formal request was made by the Superior General of the Carmelite Order for the transfer of the direction and administration of the Seminary from the Superior General of the Order to the Hierarchy of Kerala. On June 12, 1976, the Congregation for the Oriental Churches communicated to the Kerala Catholic Bishops' Council (K.C.B.C.) the decision of the Congregation for the Oriental Churches and the Congregation for the Evangelization of Peoples to transfer the direction of the Seminary to the K.C.B.C. The letter of the Congregation begins by recalling the concern of the two Congregations for the well-being and progress of the Pontifical Seminary and for its continuance as a model of inter-ritual co-operation. The Statutes of the Seminary made by the two Congregations state that "St. Joseph's Pontifical Seminary is a pluri-ritual Institution, common to the three Rites, namely the Syro-Malabar, the Latin and the Syro-Malankara". It was also stated that "the Seminary belongs to the Holy See and that its direction and administration is entrusted to the Conference of the Bishops of the three Rites of the Kerala region, subject to the high authority of the Sacred Congregation for the Oriental Churches and the Sacred Congregation for the Evangelization of the Peoples".

The Church of Kerala is greatly indebted to the dedicated missionaries of the Carmelite Order for the excellent formation they imparted to the clergy of Kerala for three centuries. It is a matter of great joy and honour for the Seminary that the cause for the beatification of two of its former Professors, Fr. Aurelian O.C.D. and Fr. Zacharias O.C.D. has been taken up. Fr. Aurelian had served the Seminary for 51 years and Fr. Zacharias for 45 years. Other former professors and students, for whom the cause of beatification is underway, are Bl. Kunjachan, Mar. Mathew Kavukattu, Msgr. Reynold Purackal, Fr. Joseph Vithayathil, Fr. Thommichan Pothathil, Fr. George Vakayil and Fr. Antony Thachuparambil

Mangalapuzha: Major Seminary of the Syro-Malabar Church

The request of the K.C.B.C. to re-organize the Seminary on the basis of Rites was approved by the Holy See in 1996. Concrete steps for the implementation of the project were taken at the end of the academic year 1996-'97. With the academic year 1997-'98 St Joseph Pontifical Seminary, Mangalapuzha started to function as the Major Seminary of the Syro-Malabar Church.

Some Guidelines for the Seminarians

I. SPIRITUAL LIFE

1. Twice in a semester there will be a Group Mass for each batch with the Animator and the Spiritual Father.
2. Once a month there will be a prayer meeting for every batch with the Animator.
3. On the day of monthly recollection there will be a batch-wise growth-session with the Animator.
4. Rosary will be said on Tuesdays and Wednesdays in common. It shall be said in private on Mondays, Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays. On Fridays it will be said batch-wise.
5. The Way of the Cross will be prayed on the last Friday of every month and on every Friday in the season of Lent.
6. Each seminarian shall choose a spiritual father from among the spiritual fathers or from other resident staff members who do not have administrative offices, and meet him every month.
7. There is a 20-minute meditation every morning.
8. Each seminarian shall devote some time daily for personal prayer.
9. Every seminarian shall approach the sacrament of reconciliation regularly.
10. The seminarians shall develop a sense of interior silence.

II. STUDY

1. Seminarians are expected to spend their evening study time either in their study halls/rooms or in the reference section of the library. During the evening study time no activity other than spiritual conferences, confession and meeting Fr. Rector is permitted.
2. Therefore: (a) During this time making phone calls or ironing clothes is not allowed.
(b) During this time seminarians shall not receive guests or entertain them. If needed, they should obtain permission from their Animator.
3. Entering the cubicles/rooms of others is strictly forbidden. Seminarians shall observe silence in the rooms and the adjacent places during the time of study and rest.

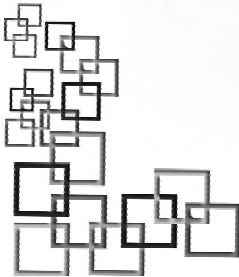

4. Philosophy students shall be in their study halls or library during the study time in the afternoons.
5. Seminarians shall cultivate a habit of reading for which they shall make use of the library.
6. Digital library, internet facility and computer lab shall be used for study purpose.
7. Seminarians will be assisted in their intellectual life by mentors. Each seminarian shall receive guidance from his mentor frequently.
8. The afternoon study-time on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Fridays is strictly for personal work and in-library consultation.

III. GATHERINGS

1. As a rule, gatherings shall be held in the afternoons.
2. No room or floor decoration shall be done for various celebrations.
3. There will be three diocesan gatherings a year, namely at the beginning of the year to welcome the new comers; for giving send-off to the deacons and at the end of the year. Edibles may be served during these gatherings.
4. There will be two batch gatherings together with supper, one in each semester. No edibles shall be distributed in other batch gatherings.
5. No regional or provincial gatherings of seminarians are allowed.

IV. PERMISSION
